

One Day...

Of all the ways The Creator could have brought everything into existence, He chose to do it one day at a time. And while we recognize significant moments, by His design, we often view the most important things that happen to us against the backdrop of a particular day. So, whether we are trying to learn from the things written before us, or we are considering our future and the promises He has made; we find that sometimes one day can make all the difference.
